

Criteria for assessment of practical skills

«10» points - creative independent work at patient's bed, precise and correct applying of practical skills and full clinical inspection of the patient. To possess skills of thinking clinically, interpreting obtained data and data of additional investigations, drawing out conclusions independently and logically, making the conclusion under the diagnosis of disease, participating creatively in group discussions. A high level of deontology compliance.

«9» points - independent work at the patient's bed, carrying out clinical inspection of the patient without mistakes, proper and precise performance of practical skills, skill to interpret data and the additional methods of inspection received as a result of the total inspection. Making proper conclusions independently, participating in group discussions creatively. A high level of deontology compliance.

«8» points - active independent work at the patient's bed, carrying out clinical inspection of the patient without mistakes, proper and precise performance of practical skills, skill to interpret data obtained during inspection and data from additional methods of inspection, making conclusions independently, participating in group discussions. Compliance of deontology.

«7» points - active independent work at the patient's bed, carrying out clinical inspection of the patient with small discrepancies, performance of practical skills without mistakes. Skills to interpret obtained data during patient inspection and data of additional methods of inspection, making conclusions, participation in group discussions. Compliance of deontology.

«6» points - active independent work at patient's bed, carrying out clinical inspection of the patient without significant mistakes, performance of practical skills without discrepancies; skill to interpret data of additional methods of inspection and the received data, making conclusions, but with some mistakes; participation in group discussions. Compliance of deontology bases.

«5» points - skill to inspect the patient independently with proper performance of practical skills, but with some defects, errors. Skills to interpret obtained data and data of additional investigative techniques, to participate in group discussions. Compliance of deontology.

«4» points - (passed) – skill to carry out practical skills inspecting the patient under a constant management of the teacher, and doing it not precisely, but with errors, difficulties to interpret obtained data of additional investigative techniques.

«3» points – being passive during practical studies, difficulties in performing practical skills during patient inspection. Significant difficulties in interpretation of received data and additional investigative techniques.

«2» points – being passive during practical studies, significant difficulty in performing practical skills during patient inspection. Absence of knowledge how to interpret obtained data and data of additional investigative techniques.

«1» point - refusal to perform practical skills without good excuse or its absolutely wrong performance.